Hear Tosuke Yamasaki.
Would Canada Trade?
Gold Standard Also Gone.
Why Live So Long?

For a change from news not usually too gay, and for the strictly American point of view, it might interest you to read an inside story of some conditions in America, printed by Mr. Tosuke Yamasaki on the English editorial page of Kashu Mainichi, otherwise The Japan-California Daily News, published in Los Angeles. If it occurs to you that Mr. Yamasaki's English it not absolutely perfect, ask yourself how long it would take you to learn to write Japanese as well as he writes English.

Mr. Yamasaki speaks under the heading "On Getting Stung." He says:

"I grieve when I look back at the time I saw in my steady kissing my boss, my best friend, just to hold her job. Stunned and stung, but just to keep on earning my buck, I was forced by sheer politeness to say nothing. I hurried and told an acquaintance of mine; he laughed and said that he would be careful—and now his former mate is the boss's wife.

"Indeed, we live in a world of amazement, debauchery, trickery and broken confidence, in which the masses of the highest to the lowest orders are completely subdued and exploited by con-men and con games. It is astonishing to know that a third of our great American public has, in some way or another, suffered from land, oil, mining or stock booms; that the second third is now being boomed successfully by means of fraudulent literature and advertising, by thousands of quacks, loan sharks, jury-fixers, and counter jumpers, and that the remaining third is in the arms of gold diggers."

Mr. Yamasaki has found words to express what many have thought since 1929.

The Hon. Gus Kasch, in the Ohio Legislature, has interesting "trades" in mind. He would have Uncle Sam trade all of Alaska for "the islands south of the center of the St. Lawrance," and he would have England cancel her war debt to us and give us Canada instead of cash.

Can you imagine the enthusiasm in Canada when that news spreads, considering that Canada has in the ground more than enough gold to pay that war debt, to say nothing of silver, nickel, iron and the Lord knows what.

As for Alaska, there is no knowing how much wealth is hidden away there.

It would, however, be a good idea if Canada would annex the United States, and then let Mexico annex them both, and run the whole thing on a "majority vote" basis.

Twenty-eight Republicans joined Democrats in a vote, 283 to 57, in favor of the theory that this country can get along without the gold standard. We have some billions of gold in the treasury so that we are not quite "off the gold basis." No other country has as much, and if some sloppy, sentimental congressional or other authority does not hand over our gold to Europe, we shall keep that "gold rabbit's foot" to prove our "gold respectability."

At least 122,000,000 out of 123,000,000 Americans have got along without gold thus far. Our kind of dollar will buy anything for sale in the United States, and that ought to be a good enough dollar, with or without gold behind it.

New Jersey's "nature colony," practicing "nature healing," believing in nudism (going naked) although it does not practice that, says its members hope "to live for centuries," not merely for one hundred years.

Their rules include "no meat, no soap, no romance." Under such conditions, why live for centuries?

Giant turtles of the Galapagos Islands, with similar rules, live hundreds of years. But what of it?

Gandhi the sincere ends his 21-day fast weighing 80 pounds. The western world cannot understand what good it does India's millions of "untouchables" to have an old man risk death by starvation, but Gandhi and the "untouchables" know.

Gandhi says he does not know what further work God has for him, but whatever it may be, he is ready. It is to be hoped that the old man will be allowed to rest, eat and enjoy the thanks of those for whom he has risked death, before any further sacrifice is called for.

Meanwhile, you notice that the British, who never starve themselves, represent the power that has diminished plague and famine in India, to say nothing of discouraging marriages of little 10 year old girls to old men and burning young widows alive with the corpses of their old husbands. Civilization is better than starvation.

An observer of human nature, Mr. L. J. H., remarks, "Hope is stronger than memory." Some now gambling gaily, whose memory is weaker than their hope, will wish, later, perhaps, that it was the other way around.

Carmel Music Society Holds Annual Meeting

More than two hundred members of the Carmel Music Society were present at the annual meeting and frolic Monday night at the Denny-Watrous gallery, when financial details and business for the past year and the coming year were discussed by the group.

For the first time in the six years of the society's existence, activities are to be carried on into the summer months. Seven concerts and open rehearsals are scheduled for the season, a treat which will be appreciated not only by the musical enthusiasts of Carmel but by many of the summer people.

During the past year, the Music society has spent $7,100 in bringing fine music to Carmel. Notable among the presentations were Madame Austral, the Vienna Boy Choir, the Peninsula Orchestra and Michel Penha.

Hal Garrott had some very interesting things to say about music in Carmel, the doing of music and the making of music. "Fifteen or twenty years ago Carmel was distinguished as a town of painters and writers. Today, Carmel's major art is music. As is the case with every activity in the artistic realm, real growth is dependent upon the inspired leadership of one man. In our case the amazing development of music as an interest in Carmel is due to the leadership of a woman."

Speaking of Michel Penha, capable leader of the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra, Mr. Garrott said: "Under the leadership of Penha, music has a grand future. Carmel will be as famous for its music as it was as an evangelical hide-out for southern prophetesses."

As what he called "an outsider," having lived in Carmel but three years, Frederick Burt, in a concise manner, summed up what in his opinion would be for the best interests of Carmel.

"Carmel is now living on its reputation. It is in a state of dry rot. Activities are undermined by factions and cliques, and each group fights alone, refusing to cooperate. Carmel has no museum.

"What Carmel needs is a Center, where all the arts may be harmonized to the best interests of the community. The musical society, under the leadership of Penha provides a background for the youth of Carmel that is invaluable and unique.

"Here is the setting, here are the people, and the reputation. Let us make a center that will mean something, and not live upon the reputation of the past."

Miss Dene Denny spoke on the practical side of the orchestra, emphasizing the development of what almost amounts to a symphony orchestra in one year from a gathering of amateur players on the peninsula.

Michel Penha described plans for chamber music for this summer. The programs will include the finest compositions which have been written for piano quartets, ensembles which consist of the piano, violin, viola and cello. This type of quartet is not nearly so well known as a string quartet.

Although the programs for the quartet have not been finally decided upon, Penha promises some very interesting things. There will be a piano quartet by Brahms and Dvorak, a trio for the flute, violo and cello with an assisting artist, Merrill Jordan from San Francisco. There will be a Chausson concerto for the solo violin, solo piano and string quartet. Abas will play the solo violin, with two additional violinists from San Francisco.

A few numbers were played after the business meeting by Abas, Weiss, Penha and Linsley, providing an interesting sample of what is in store for music lovers this summer.

Members elected to the board of directors for the coming year were Vasia Anikeeff, Mrs. George Blackman, Miss Dene Denny, Henry F. Dickinson, Mrs. Henry F. Dickinson, Mrs. Horace Dormody, Mrs. Paul Flanders, Mrs. James Gillingham and Arthur Hately of Pebble Beach.

Mrs. Katherine Mac F. Howe, Mrs. F. A. Ingalls of Pebble Beach, Mrs. Henry Hammond, Dr. R. A. Kocher, Mrs. Eugene Marble, Mrs. Carmel Martin of Monterey, Mrs. James Parker and Mrs. John O'Shea and Miss Emily Pitkin both of the Highlands.

Miss Tilly Polak, Dr. F. V. Randall of Pacific Grove, Frederick Preston Search, Dr. Margaret Swigart of Monterey, Mrs. Marion Boke Todd, Miss Emma Waldvogel of Asilomar, Miss Hazel Watrous, Willard B. Wheeler of Pebble Beach, Frank Wickman of Carmel Highlands, Mrs. Mildred Sahlstrom Wright and Fritz Wurzmann.

CARMEL BOYS INJURED WHILE PUSHING CAR

While pushing their car to the top of Carmel hill, after having run out of gas, two Carmel youths, Donald Dawson, 17, and George Turner, 19, were struck by an automobile driven by Ed Fitzpatrick of Del Monte Sunday night. Dawson, who was on the left side of the car steering it, was badly crushed and will have to spend several days in the hospital.

Both Fitzpatrick and Turner suffered minor cuts and bruises, but were able to return to their homes in a few days.

According to Louis Trenner, state highway patrolman who investigated the accident, Fitzpatrick says he did not see the boys until he was almost upon them, and could not swerve. No charges have been placed against Fitzpatrick.

District Attorney Not To Appear At Carmel

District Attorney Harry Noland this week announced in a brief statement that he will not appear before the city council of Carmel as he was requested by a letter from Mayor Catlin, to explain the reasons for the charges placed by him against Argyll Campbell.

Noland announced in his statement that Carmel was not entitled to an explanation. In ousting his deputy, Noland charged Campbell with having refused to cooperate in closing gambling places. Campbell was in Sacramento at the time that Noland ordered raids, and denies any foundation for the charges.

The city council took the stand that if there were any truth in the charges, it had a right to know them, or if they were false, Campbell's name should be cleared.

Sister Benvenuta To Be Given Here Soon

Carmel will have an opportunity to enjoy at least two of Edward Kuster's San Francisco productions which made such a favorable impression on the critics on the press of the Bay region this season. The first of the plays to be brought down by the San Francisco Repertory Guild, of which Kuster is director, is "Sister Benvenuta," a miracle play of the Renaissance period. It will be performed at Carmel Community Playhouse next Friday and Saturday, June 16 and 17, commencing at 8:30 sharp.

The San Francisco Chronicle made one of its rare editorial recommendations in respect to this production, saying of it, "A worthy and splendid item in the season's playgoing, recommended to all lovers of the theatre."

"Sister Benvenuta," produced eight years ago at the Theatre of the Golden Bough, in the creative days of its pre-movie glory, was at that time performed under its alternative title, "The Nursery Maid of Heaven." The new production fololws closely the plan of direction then adopted by Kuster in the Golden Bough, except that it is even further amplified to the proportions of a rich and varied spectacle, the music of Wagner's "Parsifal" and of the Palestrina chants being said to be used with fine effect. For all the inherent dignity and delicate texture of the play, it abounds in moments of light and airy humor. It finishes with an exalted and thrilling finale which, whatever one's faith, never fails of a powerful dramatic and emotional effect.

In one of the play's gayer episodes the dance of the puppets, joined in by the younger nuns and novices of the Venetian convent in which the scene is laid, is performed to the infectious music of the famous "Furlana" from the opera, "La Giaconda." It will be danced by a group of well-known Carmel girls, under the direction of Ruth Austin. Alberta Leitch, formerly of Carmel, whose lovely soprano voice has been heard here of late years only over the radio, will assist with the same beautiful Ave Maria and Hallelujah she sang in the original Golden Bough production.

The principals headed by Rosemary DeCamp, who will be remembered here for her fine performance of a minor role in "See Naples and Die" two years ago, all hail from the San Francisco Bay Region, excepting possibly Albert Van Houtee in the quietly amusing part of Father Confessor, who has come to Carmel so many summers that he may rightfully be called a "kamaaina," Hawaiian for "one of us." Others in the cast well known in Carmel are Barbara Sutro and Agnete Johannsen.

Edward Kuster's work has not been seen here since he leased his playhouse to the Carmel Community Players. Under the new plan of management the productions of the latter will alternate with those of other groups, local and otherwise. Kuster's second play this summer will be "Beggar on Horseback," in revival, with a mixed San Francisco and local cast. The third, scheduled for the second week in August, will be the first complete production of Martin Flavin's powerful new play, "Amaco," to be given with a Monterey Peninsula cast.

"Sister Benvenuta" will play only two nights, Friday and Saturday of next week.

LAURA ADAMS ARMER IS GUEST IN CARMEL

A distinguished guest in Carmel last week was Laura Adams Armer, who spent a few days at the home of Mrs. John Montague.

Mrs. Armer is on her way to the Painted Desert where she will spend many months in her hogan, working on two new books. Mrs. Armer is probably best known for her book, "Waterless Mountain," published recently, which won Longmans Green's prize as well as the Newberry prize.

A new book to be published by Longmans Green very soon is titled "Dark Circle of Branches."

Lee Sage, also known as "Snap" Nelson, cowpuncher-author, was seen in Carmel this week. Sage is a well known writer of western yarns.

Interesting things about Carmel

FOREST THEATER ENTERS 24TH YEAR

Starting with the production of "The Pirates of Penzance," which will be presented Saturday, Sunday and Monday, July 1, 2 and 3, the Forest theatre will begin its twenty-third year of dramatic productions, the quality of which have been so outstanding as to attract world-wide attention.

It is an amazing thing to think back to the ingenuity and foresight, and inspiration which made a living thing of the ambitions of a handful of people in a little out of the way village. The work necessary, the plans, securing of the location, of plays, and of casts would be a large undertaking for any community.

In 1910, the Forest theatre was dedicated. The first presentation was "David," and old Carmelites will never forget their thrill when they realized that their dream had come true.

The Forest Theater as it is today owes its inception to the hard and untiring work of early enthusiasts. Names famous not only in Carmel but elsewhere helped in its founding. There were the Sterlings, George and Carrie, Bertha Newberry, Grace MacGowan Cooke, Maude Lyons, Alice MacGowan, Helen Cooke, Vera Connelly, George Boke, Joseph and Mary Hand, Stella Vincent, Helen Parkes, Lucia Lane, Virginia Smiley and Jessie Francis Short and her son, Douglas.

Saidee Van Brower, M. De Neale Morgan, J. E. Beck, T. B. Reardon, Fred Leidig, Ernest and George Schweninger, Dorothy Maxtone-Graham, Nelly Murphy Herbert Heron and many others.

The public at large has no conception of the work involved in the presentations of the Forest theatre. The selection of plays consumes many hours of thought and consultation. The settings are worked out with the greatest thought and artistic consideration, and there are thousands of practical and mechanical problems to be solved. Some of the famous who have worked on settings for the theatre are William P. Silva, Jessie Arms Botke and Cornelius Botke, Homer Emens, and others. Artists have given of their time without stint, for the sheer joy of creating beauty, and it has been well worth while.

COMMUNITY CHURCH TO HAVE MUSICALE SUNDAY

An evening of music of unusual interest is planned for Sunday evening in the Carmel Community church.

Beginning promptly at 7:45, the "Festival March" from Tannhauser will introduce a rare Wagnerian program. Two outstanding episodes from "The Ring of the Niebelungs" will be featured: "Wotan's Farewell" and the "Magic Fire Music" from Die Walkure; also the glorious "Final Duet" from the conclusion of Siegfried. The Siegfried finale is the new recording which has created such a sensation among lovers of the phonograph. The program is entirely recorded. A silver offering is desired.

MAY BRIDGE TEA IS LOVELY AFFAIR

The May bridge tea at the Country club last week proved to be a very enjoyable affair. Hostesses who entertained their guests on this occasion were Mrs. Stella Staford Mather, her guests being Mrs. John Jordan, Mrs. A. T. Hyde, Mrs. James L. Cockburn, Mrs. Jasmine Rockwell, Miss Nora Harndon, Miss Virginia Rockwell and Miss Anita Dowd.

Mrs. Frank Adams Huffer, who entertained Mrs. C. J. Ryland, Mrs. Vera Peck Millis and Mrs. W. B. Swain.

At no host tables were Mrs. J. E. Abernethy, Mrs. Franklin Sowell, Mrs. Harry Schwabe, Mrs. George Erwin, Mrs. Karl Burrows, Mrs. Joseph McCarthy, Mrs. Kathryn Taylor and Mrs. Grace Seale.

Ralph Linsley and Abraham Weiss arrived in Carmel last week prepared for the summer season of the Carmel Music Society. The two will live on Monte Verde street.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

Vegetable growers of northern Santa Barbara County have reduced their spring and summer crop acreages in the hope of obtaining better prices for their commodities. A survey of acreage to be planted and harvested between May 1 and September 1 has been made by W. H. McNutt, agricultural inspector for the county, in which a reduction of 32 per cent in total acres to be harvested is revealed.

Sanford M. Anderson of Inglewood was elected president of the California Building-Loan League at the closing session of its twenty-eighth annual convention at Yosemite National Park. President Anderson in his acceptance speech declared in favor of an immediate advertising campaign by building and loan associations to encourage home ownership and home building. He lauded the California press for the stabilizing influence it has exerted during the depression.

The State Association of Master Plumbers closed its thirty-second annual convention at Los Angeles recently, re-electing R. W. Timmons of Richmond as president. Other officers named were F. C. Schilling Jr., Los Angeles, vice president; J. D. Hawley, Los Angeles, treasurer; W. H. Picard, Oakland, William Nies, Los Angeles, and J. F. Dickson, Modesto, directors.

Plans for consolidated ferry service and virtually union station facilities for passengers on the three transcontinental railroads were announced recently at San Francisco. The Western Pacific railroad will run its passenger trains in and out of the Oakland pier of the Southern Pacific Company, and passengers will use S. P. ferries. Similar arrangements have been made between the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe railroad.

Plans to protect fish and game in the Ninth Corps Area during occupation of camps by members of the Civilian Conservation Corps were announced at San Francisco. Workers and officers will require fishing and hunting licenses in sections where such credentials are necessary, Maj.-Gen. Malin Craig announced. Officers have been ordered to enforce strictly fish and game conservation laws.

Legality of the William Hornblower act, calling for an election on June 27 of delegates to a state convention to decide on repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was approved by the State Supreme Court without comment. In approving the election, the Supreme Court denied a petition for a writ filed by Southern California interests to hold up the vote. Anti-repeal adherents from Southern California were headed by Richard M. Cannon.

A total of 11,110 persons, representing 2684 families, have gone off the San Francisco city relief since March 26 because of new jobs, as seen in figures given recently by Charles M. Wollenberg, relief director. "Advent of beer alone can not account for the increase in work," Wollenberg said. "A slight pickup in general business seems to be the explanation." The record high mark for relief was on March 25, just before the drop began, when those being aided touched a peak of 74,881. There are at the moment 63,763 persons dependent upon the city, representing 14,118 families.

Electing new officers and retaining others, the State Nurses Association ended its five-day annual convention at Los Angeles recently. Mrs. Harriet Fleming of Ontario was re-elected president, and Dr. Edith S. Bryan of Berkeley, first vice president. Miss Dora Saunby of San Francisco was named second vice president. Mrs. Gabrielle Mulvane of San Bernardino and Miss Matilda Harris of Oakland, secretary and treasurer, respectively, will hold their offices for another year. Miss Helen Hartley of Stockton was re-elected to the board of directors and Mrs. Margaret Krathaus of Santa Monica was placed on that body.

State budget balancing problems were further complicated with announcement by Franchise Tax Commissioner Charles J. McColgan that the State's income from banks and business corporations shows a 30 per cent drop. The state levy of 4 per cent on net incomes of 1931-32 brought in $2,932,137 for the ten months ending April 30, 1933, McColgan said. Comparable revenues for ten months ending April 30, 1932, came to $4,312,265. The decrease, according to State Finance Director Rolland A Vandegrift, is greater by from $500,000 to $750,000 than the figure calculated in estimating State franchise taxes toward meeting the new budget.

That there will be no need for outside help in the harvesting of the coming apricot crop is a warning issued by Dr. John B. Weston, president of the Hemet Valley Chamber of Commerce. The Hemet Valley apricot crop of 4000 to 5000 tons will be the smallest in years. The harvest will start about June 15.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, recently announced grants of $21,659,282 to thirty-one states and Hawaii to meet immediate relief needs. They included California, $1,317,861.

The movement for a world's fair in San Francisco, on completion of the transbay and Golden Gate bridges, had received new impetus with the Downtown Association supporting the plan. In an announcement by its directorate the Downtown Association urged the name Bridges of Progress Exposition, that the fair be self-liquidating, of six months duration, and that naval strength of all nations be asked to concentrate here at the time.

Kings County ground squirrels were given a clean bill of health by the State Department of Health, after examination of a large number of the animals taken from Avenal Creek district by County Agricultural Commissioner Haupt, following a report that the squirrels in that section were "dying of bubonic plague." Two representatives of the state department, with Commissioner Haupt, killed and examined approximately 800 squirrels and while they found disease among them, they definitely announced that there was no symptom of bubonic plague and that the conditions are not serious.

Daniel H. Blood, state director of natural resources, and Dr. J. M. Toner, director of institutions, both recently slated for removal by Governor Rolph, appeared secure in their jobs for a while longer. The Governor indicated he will retain Blood temporarily after receiving a communication in which James M. Burke, Visalia attorney, declined to accept the position because of press of legal work. Rolph said he will make further efforts to "draft" Burke for the job. Dr. Toner has asked to be transferred to other duties, but Rolph said he hasn't found a place for him. Dr. June Harris, Sacramento physician, may be offered the directorship of institutions.

Advisory and executive committee members of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association met recently at Santa Barbara to discuss plans for the next annual state convention of the group in that city in January. Problems of the tourist industry also were discussed. Col. Samuel G. McClure, publisher of the Santa Monica Outlook, outlined a plan for telling California tourist attractions of California. Dan L. Beebe, president of the state association, presided at the short sessions of morning and afternoon. Don Thomas, director of the All-Year Club of Southern California, talked briefly on "Know Your Own California," and described plans for disseminating information on the state's many places of interest.

Governor Rolph intends to say "Three Cheers" when American governors assemble at Sacramento in July for the annual Conference of Governors and he intends to say it with flowers. He called in State Gardener William Vortriede recently and directed him to lay out a large flower bed on the lawns north of the capitol building with red, white and blue blossoms spelling out the words: "Three cheers for the good old U. S. A." This proposed floral greeting to the visiting state executives will be in addition to elaborate artillery salutes being planned by Rolph with National Guard authorities. Governors will receive salutes of nineteen guns apiece instead of seventeen as in past years.

California's champion mother died suddenly in Fairfax, Marin County, recently. Mrs. Albert J. Kistle, 44-year-old mother of twenty living children, succumbed following a sudden attack just two months after the birth of her last child, named in honor of the President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt Kistle. She had no twins or triplets and the birth of her last son diivded the family into ten boys and ten girls. In 1930 Mrs. Kistle and her family won fame at the state fair by taking the prize offered for the largest family in the state. At that time there were only seventeen children. President Roosevelt, on being informed of the naming of a member of the Kistle family in his honor, sent a letter of thanks and a handkerchief for the child as a souvenir.

Reflecting a marked upward swing in California construction work, average monthly building permits in nine key cities, including San Francisco, total $6,101,460 for the first four months of 1933 compared with $3,344,763 for corresponding months in 1932. Col. Carlos W. Huntington, state director of professional and vocational standards, said that San Francisco's monthly average this year had been $3,991,639, contrasted with $1,368,993 in the early part of last year. The 1933 monthly averages of building permits in other key cities surveyed by Huntington were: Los Angeles, $888,548; Long Beach, $613,048; Oakland, $120,000; San Diego $118,000; Sacramento, $196,000; San Jose, $111,418; Fresno, $49,393; Stockton, $13,171. "While we are still below the mark for the same period in 1931" said Huntington, "the figures represent an increase of more than $2,000,000 in the average monthly building permits of these cities, and this upturn is a highly encouraging sign."

A $50,000 fire starting from an automobile, recently destroyed practically half the business section of the little town of Groveland, located on the Big Oak Flat road to Yosemite Valley, thirty miles south of Sonora. Groveland residents were aided in fighting the fire by the state fire truck from Sonora and 200 men from the Buck Meadows reforestation camp, backed by residents of nearby towns. Fire fighters said the blaze started presumably from a short circuit in a car in the Feretti Garage and spread to three business establishments and seven residents.

CARMEL STREET FAIR TO AID UNEMPLOYED

(By Robert Welles Ritchie)

All charitable efforts on the peninsula since the "Hunger Years" began will be surpassed when the Carmel Street Fair gets off to a running start on the afternoon of Saturday, July 1. So far as hearty cooperation goes, it will be an all-Peninsula affair for the Presidio and leading charitable workers of both Monterey and Pacific Grove have offered their services to the Carmel executive committee in charge. Proceeds will be devoted to the local Red Cross and Unemployment Commission.

Two blocks of upper Ocean avenue, from the foot of the hill to San Carlos street, will be transformed to a gala atmosphere under the hands of more than a hundred volunteer workers already signed up. Stores, vacant lots, garages and even Carmel's tidy little park will be furbished to serve a carnival purpose. Visitors will discover their dollars and quarters will purchase anything from a barbecued dinner, roasted under the expert hand of a seasoned rodeo cook, to the sight of Mayor Catlin ringing the bell with a mighty blow from his sledge.

The Presidio band, the American Legion Drum Corps of Monterey and a local aggregation of musicians under Hal Garrott will supply music for dancing. A Gypsy troupe, organized by Chet Shepherd, and a drove of warbling cowboys will spell the bands during the course of the evening.

The executive committee is making special efforts to provide unique features for the local and visiting youngsters, for the afternoon will be given up to them. There will be clowns to delight them. Leon Wilson's puppet show, a roller-skate race and several surprises which are being held secret.

A direct boost for Monterey scrip and Carmel Dollars has been arranged . Big bundles of both kinds of "money" will be on sale at the opening of the fair and everybody will be urged to change their currency into these local tokens.

The supreme surprise of the fair—a feature which has rarely been duplicated off metropolitan stage—is also being held in reserve by the committee. A day or two before the fair opens Carmel will be given a preliminary peep at this unique feature.

Members of the executive committee who have the management of the affair in their charge are Mrs. Frances Daniels, chairman; Mrs. Virginia Stanton, secretary; James Cockburn, treasurer; Miss Katherine Cooke, Robert Parrott and Bert Crossman.

Among the scores of aides to whom concessions have been assigned are Mrs. Sidney Fish, Mrs. Ryland, Mrs. Robert Parrott, Mrs. Marble, Miss Ruth Austin, Miss Tilly Polak, Mayor Catlin, Talbert and Winsor Josselyn and Col. Foster.

MAN FINDS DOLORES STREET NOT A SPEEDWAY

Carl Silvers of Pacific Grove thought that Dolores street was a good place to try out a car he had been working on for a friend, and got it up to 46 miles an hour when traffic officer Guth spying them decided that the experiment had gone far enough.

Silvers paid fifteen dollars for the try-out, and it is doubtful if he will attempt another like experiment within the city limits of Carmel.

GENERAL BOY SCOUT COMMITTEE WILL BE ORGANIZED LOCALLY

At the noon meeting of the Boy Scout Troop committee held at Pine Inn this week, Chairman Herman Crossman announced that a scout summer camp for local scouts had been selected about a hundred miles from Carmel. It is an ideal place, situated in the wilderness, provides swimming along with other outdoor activities.

Hurd Comstock, newly elected treasurer reported on the financial status of the scout organization, and plans for carrying on scout work were discussed.

Several meetings have been held recently, attended by men interested in scout work, including W. W. Wheeler, D. L. Stanford and Dr. Haasis. It is the plan of the executive committee, which includes Hurd Comstock, Herman Crossman, Everett Smith and Louis Levinson, to organize a general scout committee for the purpose of creating more general interest in scouting among men who are interested in boys, and who are willing to give time and energy in furthering a constructive program for the scouts.

Anyone interested may communicate with any members of the troop committee.

MOUNTING TIRES AT THE PITS JUST BEFORE THE START
WILBUR SHAW 2ND PLACE
LOU MOORE 3RD PLACE

FASTEST RACE IN HISTORY IS RUN

The 21st Interantional Sweepstakes at Indianapolis May 30, fastest and most thrilling 500-mile automobile race in world history, brought the highest honor of racing to Louis Meyer, winner in 1928 and the only one except Tony Milton to win the great race twice. He was driving the Tydol Special.

The race set the amazing record of 104.162 miles per hour average, despite the fact that the cars carreid two men and were limited to 15 gallons gasoline carriage, necessitating several stops. This average required terrific speed on parts of the 2 1-2 mile oval speeds said to go as high as 170 miles per hour.

"The fact that I had no tire trouble enabled me to set the new speed record," Louis Meyer said at the close of the race. "I want to express my appreciation for the building of tires that stand up under the terrible punishment." He was using tires built by Firestone—which were equipment chosen by all those who placed in this race, and have been on the winning cars for 14 years.

At the Speedway the "pits" where the cars are serviced are a center of activity and interest. The lower picture is a pit scene before the race showing tires being mounted on one of the five Studebakers—three of which finished in the money with the other two close behind. Firestone engineers see that the tires are properly mounted on wheels, to withstand the burning speeds, the grinding curves, and the hours of relentless pounding over the brick track under the blazing sun—supreme tests of safety and endurance which have made better tires available to all motorists.

Prof. and Mrs. Pearson who have been staying in the Taylor cottage for several weeks at Lincoln and Third, have returned to their home at Davis. They were delighted with Carmel and enjoyed their stay very much.

JUDGE BEN LINDSEY HERE TOMORROW NITE

An event of no little significance is the address tomorrow evening in the Denny-Watrous gallery by Judge Ben Lindsey on "Human Relations." The famous judge, founder of the juvenile court system, the first man to secure courts for children, comes to Carmel from Santa Maria, where at eleven o'clock in the morning he addresses the graduating class of the Santa Maria high school. Lincoln Steffens, an old friend, will introduce him.

Judge Lindsey is one of the outstanding personages of the country. His rare understanding of human beings, his sympathy and reaching out toward the young men and women, the boys and girls whose mistakes have brought them before the law, equipped him naturally for the work he has spent a lifetime in doing—creating and developing children's courts, getting another chance for boys and girls, building them up into fine men and women instead of sending them into jails or conditions where degredation and corruption are the educating factors, instead of work and healthy, forward-looking surroundings.

Judge Ben Lindsey's great courage and boldness in standing for what he has considered the solution of young men and women's difficulties have brought him the title of a "dangerous man." His books on "The Revolt of Youth" and "Companionate Marriage" aroused hostility and venom on the part of orthodox church and state, and Denver disbarred him. California, on the other hand, honors him and has restored him to his place among distinguished lawyers of the land, and his name is being mentioned as governor of the Hawaiian Islands.

Right now Judge Ben Lindsey is practicing law in Los Angeles, and engaged in the foundation of a Human Relations Institute, which will deal with problems of love, marriage and divorce on which Judge Lindsey said in an address at El Rodeo School in Beverly Hills, "I haven't the slightest doubt that most divorces could be avoided if there was a place to which people could come in the early stages of their discords and difficulties."

In his talk tomorow evening, the celebrated judge will discuss these human relations of love, marriage and divorce, children's courts, criminal courts—what is happening today in our world and what will happen if something is not done about it.

Judges, lawyers, educators and prominent people of the peninsula will be in the crowded gallery for the vital discussion.

WILLIAM RITSCHEL EXHIBIT AT STANFORD GALLERY

A collection of paintings which includes recent work, and scenes done abroad by William Ritschel of the Carmel Highlands is being shown in the main section of the art gallery at Stanford university.

The collection will be shown until the first of July and includes marine subjects, and some interesting south sea pictures.

Ritschel is a member of the National Academy of art, one of the few California artists to achieve such distinction. He also is a member of the Universite International des Beaux Arts et des Lettres. He has exhibited frequently both here and abroad and is considered one of our best marine painters.

CARMEL WOMEN WILL LIKE THESE YARNS

One of Carmel's infant industries is located in the home of Mrs. Edna Deakin, on Dolores near Santa Lucia, where Mrs. Deakin weaves fine things to order.

Mrs. Deakin is showing samples of Bernat yarns, product of one of the largest yarn factories in the East, in the most amazing range of colors and kinds believable.

There is Boucle de Laine, mixture of fine wool and silk, which makes up with such ease; tweed boucle for sports wear, nubby silks and wools which make one fairly dizzy with ideas for luscious sweaters and suits.

Linen in heavenly colors is shown in two weights and is exactly like that used in the delicate imported blouses of crochet and knit which tempt one so.

We predict an epidemic of knitting in Carmel.

ANOTHER REASON FOR SAVING YOUR PENNIES

No more will it be posible to evade payment of taxes on your car, and if you want a new license next year, it would be well to begin saving pennies.

Senate bill No. 78 provides no car may be reregistered after March 4, unless application for registration shall be accompanied by a tax clearance certificate issued by the assessor showing that all taxes for the current fiscal year have been paid or assessed against real estate.

Assembly bill No. 569 provides that property escaping assessment one year may, upon discovery, be assessed at any time within two years following the year of escape, and the Board of supervisors must equalize any such assessments made by the assessor upon the first Monday of every month. When personal property is found to have escaped assessment after the first day of December a penalty of 10 per cent is added to the normal tax. The assesor's authority to seize and sell personal property for nonpayment of taxes is also extended two years.

LIGHTHOUSE CONFUSES SHIP'S CAPTAIN

An amusing story of a ship captain's dismay and confusion on nearing the home port was told by Jo Mora, Jr., on his arrival in Carmel this week after three months spent in Mexico.

About six-thirty Sunday evening, their ship, which had sailed down the coast two months previously, sighted the Point Lobos lighthouse, erected for moving picture purposes. Rubbing his eyes, and taking another look, the captain was stunned. Passengers affirmed the sight, and in great confusion the captain wired to San Francisco only to be told that there was no such lighthouse.

Mora says that they all wondered for a while if they were seeing spooks or a mirage, and did not receive an explanation of the apparation, as it seemed, until they landed.
